Making Materials Flow (Introduction) Harris, Rick; Chris Harris; and Earl Wilson. 9/15/2003. "Because continuous flow is a major objective of lean production, we have worked hard over many years to create truly continuous flow in the shop-floor activities we have managed. In the past few years, we've increasingly noted companies making progress in creating areas of continuous flow as more and more managers hear about value-stream mapping and grasp the power of continuous-flow cells."
